Lace Making

 N experience of Fifteen Years prior to the one just passed, has been amply sufficient to demonstrate to an always discriminating public—and especially to its lady members—the reliability, regularity, uniformity, and general superiority of our Lace Material, manufactured especially for us; as also our Linen Patterns for working the same, and as Lace of all kinds during the last few years has been the fashionable and favorite description of Trimming for most articles of Ladies' Dresses, and as there is every indication from the centres of fashion that it will become more and more popular during the present season, and for years to come, we shall keep constantly on hand a large assortment of Braids of pure linen and of the finest sheer. Also, Braids in Black Silk, etc., as heretofore, for the accommodation of our lady patrons. The facilities for manufacturing the Patterns herein illustrated, have been immensely increased, so that not only the shape of the pattern to be worked on is shewn, but in most cases all the stitches are also shewn, so that the fair worker has merely to lay on the braids and follow the design, and a beautiful Bib, Barb, Collar, Cuff, or Necklace, etc., etc., is the result of her handiwork. We take much pride in announcing ourselves in our connection with "The Young Ladies' Journal," (the best of all fashion magazines), the founders of Lace Making in this country, and although a very large quantity of material is imported into the same, the art of lace making is yet in its infancy, and it is our great aim to make it thoroughly known in every part of the United States and in order to bring it within the reach of all, we have set our prices down at the very lowest, for nett cash, which it is hoped will give entire satisfaction to our numerous friends and patrons. The patterns shown in this Book are a few selected from a greater variety on hand, but to publish which would fill a large volume, as each day new designs crop up; but in the selection herein published we have given the most stylish and easiest to be worked of our immense repertoire.

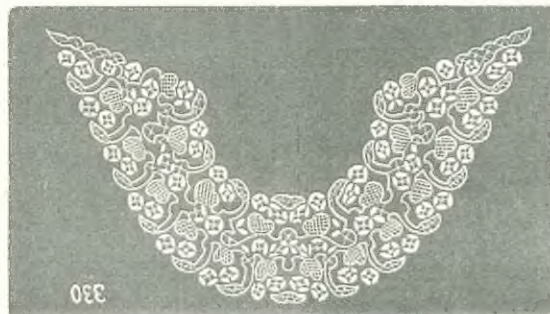

New York, Feb'y, 1878.

MME. GURNEY & CO.

 P. S.—The price of the Patterns having been considerably reduced in this Book of Patterns, it is only applicable where the material is sold with the same. Patterns ordered without the material, will be charged as marked in Price List.

CREWEL WORK.

No. 1.—Cording
Stitch.

No. 2.—Cording
Stitch.

"Can you recommend a good book on CREWEL WORK?" has been a frequent question during several months past from our numerous correspondents. We therefore publish a little work entitled "HOW TO WORK CREWEL," which our readers will find gives all the necessary information.

Crewel Work is not at all difficult, and we cannot wonder at the favor it has already found in the eyes of all ladies possessing artistic taste, because from the pliant character of the stitches, almost everything that can be painted can be imitated—flowers, fruit, birds, animals, and even landscapes—while the articles of dress, and furniture which may be ornamented by its means are very numerous. Added to these recommendations there are others, some of which are that it may be worked at a very small cost; that it washes exceedingly well—that is, if care be taken to procure Crewel of a good quality; and as the washing materials which are used for the foundations are of a very durable make, we may say that a thing once done is done for a lifetime.
